Methodology Overview

CALEA serves as the premier credentialing association for public safety agencies and provides accreditation services for law enforcement organizations, public safety communication centers, public safety training academies, and campus security agencies. The standards are promulgated by a board of 21 commissioners, representing a full spectrum of public safety leadership. The assessment process includes extensive self-assessment, annual remote web-based assessments, and quadrennial site-based assessments. Additionally candidate agencies are presented to the Commission for final consideration and credentialing.

CALEA Accreditation is a voluntary process and participating public safety agencies, by involvement, have demonstrated a commitment to professionalism. The program is intended to enhance organization service capacities and effectiveness, serve as a tool for policy decisions and management, promote transparency and community trust, and establish a platform for continuous review.

CALEA Accreditation is the Gold Standard for Public Safety Agencies and represents a commitment to excellence.

Compliance Service Review:

CALEA Compliance Services Member(s) Jay Murphy remotely reviewed 40 standards for the agency on 5/1/2017 using Law Enforcement Manual 5.23. These standards included specific time-sensitive issues, as well as all standards applicable to the agency by size and function. If standard issues are found they are listed below.

- 35.1.2 – Annual Evaluation* (LE1) – ISSUE: The standard requires a performance evaluation of each full-time employee and reserve officer be conducted and documented at least annually (with the exception of the agency CEO, constitutionally elected officials, or those employees exempted by controlling legislation). Due to an oversight the agency did not conduct annual evaluations on exempt rank personnel (captains/majors) in 2016. AGENCY ACTION NEEDED: The agency is aware of the oversight and will conduct annual evaluations on captains and majors going forward.

CALEA Compliance Services Member(s) Jay Murphy remotely reviewed 44 standards for the agency on 5/1/2018 using Law Enforcement Manual 5.23. These standards included specific time-sensitive issues, as well as all standards applicable to the agency by size and function. If standard issues are found they are listed below.

CALEA Compliance Services Member(s) Russ McElwee remotely reviewed 73 standards for the agency on 5/1/2019 using Law Enforcement Manual 5.23. These standards included specific time-sensitive issues, as well as all standards applicable to the agency by size and function. If standard issues are found they are listed below.

- 1.3.9 – Authorization: Weapons and Ammunition (LE1) – ISSUE: Bullet C - requires a written directive that states all weapons be reviewed, inspected and approved by a qualified weapons instructor or armorer prior to issues. Agency provided directive does not require that inspection and approval prior to issue. AGENCY ACTION NEEDED: Revise agency directive to include required inspections and provide proofs of those inspections.
- 16.4.2 – Training (LE1) – ISSUE: Standard requires that Auxiliaries receive training in their assigned duties. Accred Manager advises that while Auxiliaries were hired in 2016 and 2017 their training records were retained by the commander in charge of that program. The commander left the department in 2017 and the training records were not passed on to the training unit. No Auxiliaries were hired in 2018. AGENCY ACTION NEEDED: All training records should be documented and retained by the Training Unit.
- 70.1.2 – Searching Transport Vehicles (LE1) – ISSUE: Standard requires transport vehicles to be searched prior to and after transporting detainees. No proofs from 2016, 2017 or 2018 were included in file. AGENCY ACTION NEEDED: It is recommended that the agency provide proofs of inspections.
- 82.1.1 – Privacy and Security (LE1) – ISSUE: Standard requires privacy and security precautions of the agency's Central Records. No proofs in the file. AGENCY ACTION NEEDED: It is recommended that agency provide proofs regarding security of agency's records section.

AGENCY ACTION NEEDED: It is recommended that agency revise its directive to include requirements for Bullet G and provide proofs of compliance for all bullets.

- Criminal Investigations - The agency has an active Criminal Investigation Division (CID) which includes general investigations, homicide and violent crime investigations, narcotics investigations, criminal intelligence and crime analysis. A recently retired detective from Baltimore PD was hired not long ago to begin reviewing and investigating cold case unsolved homicides from the past 20 years.

- Critical Incident Stress Management - The agency developed a Critical Incident Stress Management (CISM) in 2017. The officers who are members of this unit are trained to assist officers who have been involved in critical incidents or have other concerns, wither work--related or non work-related..

During the Site-Based Assessment Review, the assessment team conducted 15 interviews regarding the topical areas previously defined. The interviews were with agency members and members of the community. AGENCY HISTORY

The Annapolis Police Department (APD) is a full-service law enforcement agency servicing a population of over 38,000 residents in 7.1 square miles of the municipality of Annapolis, MD. The APD started as "city watchmen" with the granting of the city charter in 1708. At the time, the Anne Arundel County Sheriff had concurrent jurisdiction within Annapolis proper for the first six years, after which the city would elect its own Sheriff. The term "police officer" was not used until 1861. Like today, these police officers answered to the mayor of the city. It wasn't until 1867 that the Annapolis Police Department was officially created by an act of legislation by the Maryland General Assembly. Today, 116 sworn officers protect a thriving city of 39,000 permanent residents and over 2 million annual visitors. In 2017, APD celebrated its 150th anniversary.

AGENCY STRUCTURE AND FUNCTION

The Chief of Police is the commander and administrator of the Annapolis Police Department. The Chief is appointed by the City Manager with approval from the Mayor and confirmed by the City Council. The Chief reports to the City Manager.

The Annapolis Police Department is currently staffed by a total of 178 employees; 116 sworn and 35 full time civilian, 16 part time civilians and four volunteer auxiliary officers.

There is one major, three captains, seven lieutenants and nine sergeants.

AGENCY SUCCESSES

Community outreach and innovation continues to be a priority of APD. The Department developed, participates and/or holds 11 summer camps, movie nights, Eastport Working Together, DARE, Character Counts, STAIR, Explorers and many others.

APD has established a Police Foundation and the Chiefs Advisory Team (CAT). CAT meets monthly with the Chief to discuss department and community action items. Future initiatives include establishing a PAL program.

Comments:

General file construction needs improvement by attaching directives and proofs to the appropriate line in the standard or bullet,

As a result of the Compliance Service Members review, there were seven (7) standards outstanding for review by the assessment team during the site-based assessment. Two of those standards were found to be in compliance.

The agency did not conduct necessary inspections and audits of property and evidence.

Response from Agency Regarding Findings:

I am fully committed to the accreditation process and its benefit to the Department. As a former Inspector General with the Baltimore City Police Department, the value of standardized processes/procedures cannot be overstated. All outstanding issues mentioned in this report will be addressed prior to the March conference in Orlando.

SITE-BASED ASSESSMENT

1/19/2021

Planning and Methodology:

A conference call was held between Chief Jackson, Major Herman, Accreditation Manager Miguel Dennis and the assessment team. An overview of the on-site process was discussed and the areas of focus were finalized.

The agency did not have a mock assessment, however could have benefited by having one. There were seven outstanding standards issues identified by the CSM. Two were resolved and marked in compliance during the site-based assessment.

Community Services

The agency has a very active community services unit that has implemented numerous youth-based educational, recreational, and preventive programs within the city, as well as programs for other segments of the population. Annapolis contains fifteen subsidized housing communities and the agency has taken a strong community policing approach with the youth living in those areas. There are numerous programs including the use of a Neighborhood Enhancement Team, bicycle patrols, Police Athletic League (PAL) within the local Boys and Girls Club, DARE Program, Character Counts Program, various summer camps, a scholarship program, and many others. These efforts are further enhanced by the agency's active Explorer, Cadet, and Auxiliary Officer programs, as well as a Hispanic Liaison program.

It is clear that the Community Services Unit has woven itself into the fabric of these communities, and has also garnered support and formed partnerships with various local merchants and residents who often provide financial assistance (donations) to the many programs. This is an important aspect of the agency's community policing efforts because the unit receives little to no additional city funding for these programs. Most or all funding for programs and events come from these private partnerships. For example, the agency has raised $20K for the next round of scholarships – enabling them to award eight $1K and two $500 scholarships per semester. These scholarships can go toward college or trade school tuition.

The agency also participates in the Annapolis Substance Abuse Coalition and Annapolis Cares, a grant-funded program that incorporates Project Lifesaver and other services for those with cognitive disabilities. They work with the local food bank to deliver and provide meals to numerous families in the city. It was noted that the food bank often uses inmates on work release to staff the food bank, and having officers in marked patrol vehicles participate in deliveries often helps break down barriers between this population and the police.

Alderwoman Pindell Charles noted appreciation and pride for the police department and its community services approach. As Chair of the City's Public Safety Commission and a former Baltimore City Prosecutor, she believes that the agency has evolved in a positive direction over the years and that she's been very encouraged by the results. She praised Chief Jackson's efforts, including his willingness to get out and speak to community groups, including those from both affluent and subsidized housing neighborhoods in every ward. Chief Jackson is currently planning to hold a series of town hall meetings within these communities, and plans to include a parent outreach component and address educational issues.

Alderwoman Charles praised the success of APD's summer camp program, which include a variety of formats. She stated that last year there were 30 pop-up camps – camps that were one, two, or three days and focused on particular activities (i.e., Art Camp, Cooking Camp, etc.). She closed by saying that the trust factor between the police department and the community is significant and that the agency maintains excellent relationships within the government and community, and with the local newspapers.

Standards Issues:

None

Suggestions

The city should consider providing additional funding toward their community services efforts.

Criminal Investigations

The Annapolis Police Department has a full-service criminal investigations function which is under the command of a lieutenant and is staffed by one sergeant, one corporal, and eight detectives. The division operates on two shifts providing coverage until 11pm on weekdays and 2am on weekends. There is an on-call system to ensure investigators are available at all times. While the Criminal Investigations Division investigates a variety of persons and property crimes, the corporal and two detectives primarily handle narcotics investigations.

The agency has forensic services capabilities which enables them to process and work through cases more efficiently. The forensic services lab has a staff of two. The only services that are typically referred to outside labs are DNA lab work and firearms-related forensics. DNA lab work goes to the Maryland State Police and firearms go to the Anne Arundel County Police Forensic Services Section. The agency also has numerous patrol officers trained in evidence collection and processing techniques. Within the past year, APD has investigated four homicides, 15 non-fatal shootings, in addition to a number of armed robberies, residential and commercial burglaries.

A crime analysis position, which had not been staffed for about a year was recently filled. The agency feels this position will enhance their crime analysis abilities and be able to direct resources more efficiently. Of note is the fact that Chief Jackson recently established a cold case investigator position, responsible for reviewing and investigating approximately 15 cold case homicides from over the last twenty years. The investigator is a retired veteran of the Baltimore Police Department.

Homeland security and criminal intelligence matters are handled within the CID. All daily police reports are reviewed by a lieutenant and cases are assigned for follow-up investigation. The lieutenant also determines what information or intelligence should be forwarded to other agencies or to other units within the agency. Intelligence sharing is accomplished many ways and the agency reports a great working relationship with the Maryland Coordination and Analysis Center (MCAC).

There is a positive relationship between CID and the patrol division, as both are encouraged to interact daily, whether by detective attendance at shift briefings, or by an “open-door” policy in CID. Patrol officers regularly go into the Division for advice and/or information sharing.

The CID corporal oversees the use of confidential informants, as supervisor of the drug unit. Confidential funds are audited each month and used often. The agency possesses and utilizes a polygraph machine which is operated by the agency’s one, certified operator. Undercover and surveillance equipment are accounted for by use of a safe, log sheet with case number, and supervisory approval/sign-off. Notable equipment includes GPS tracking devices and aerial drones.

Standards Issues:

None.

Suggestions

None.

Critical Incident Stress Management

The agency started a Critical Incident Stress Management (CISM) team approximately two years ago. It is supervised by a lieutenant. The team consists of four trained sworn officers who will be able to support members by providing assistance in three specific areas:

1. Personal and group debriefing, demobilization, defusing, and post critical incident seminars in the wake of critical incidents and events.
2. Anonymous and confidential peer support designed to provide a comfortable outlet for employee stress and act as a vehicle for securing additional assistance if required.
3. Resilience training designed to provide employees continuing education and techniques for stress management throughout their careers and beyond.

The CISM Team members make themselves available at any time to confer with officers who are having difficulties dealing with critical incidents or other work-related issues and refers them to qualified professionals. Sometimes, their job is just to listen to officers about issues they may be experiencing.

Standards Issues:

None

Suggestions

Continue to expand the number of personnel who volunteer to be on the CISM team. Members of the team feel that two more members would be optimal.

COMMUNITY FEEDBACK AND REVIEW

Public Information Session

The agency arranged for a public hearing on January 7, 2020 at 4:00 PM in the training room of the police department. Two citizens showed up, one of whom chose to address the assessment team.

Judy Budensick, a resident of Annapolis told the assessment team that she had worked with the Annapolis PD on raising funds for the police scholarship program. She said that the agency works hard to address neighborhood concerns and holds monthly meetings in her neighborhood to discuss problems and issues. She had attended the Citizen's Police Academy in the past and sits on the Chief's Advisory Board. She is supportive of the agency receiving reaccreditation.

Telephone Contacts

The agency arranged for a phone-in session from 1:00 PM to 3:0 PM on January 7, 2020. The assessment team received one call.

Kerry Berger, Assistant City Attorney for the city of Annapolis called to report that she has worked with the Annapolis Police Department for the past six years, working on legal issues pertaining to the agency. Ms. Berger said that she has conducted policy reviews for the agency and has worked on several legal claims against the PD. She reports however that those claims have been unsuccessful, mostly due to the training that agency members have received.

Correspondence

The assessment team received no correspondence about the agency.

Media Interest

The assessment team was not contacted by any media. No articles appeared in local newspapers regarding the site-based assessment.
